

Case 3 the Signal April 8, 2026

Late last night, Snowball was in the loft at HQ.
Alone.

That's when it happened.

🔴 TEST SIGNAL INTERRUPTED 🔴

It started as a test...

It wasn't. 📡

📡 CASE CLUE #2 Detectives 🕵️🕵️🔍🐾

It's alive. It's telling us we need to see this!

We isolated the signal.

It repeats.

Not random.

Not noise.

It curves...

loops...

returns to the same point.

Like it's searching.

Or...

like it already knows where to find us.

🐾 Paw prints are a clue

📡 FINAL CLUE Detectives!! 🕵️🕵️🔍🐾

We followed everything...

And it led us back home.

But something else made it here too. We didn't see it until just a bit ago. Something called to us.

The first signal Snowball found led us to space, then back home. Fragments have been falling.

🐾 Clue 1:

Light, but everywhere.

🐾 Clue 2:

Fine strands caught where they shouldn't be...

Not human... not fabric...

🐾 Clue 3:

A pattern in the prints...

Small... four points... repeating...

🐾 Clue 4:

A faint sound...

Not a signal...

Something quieter...

...

We're not looking for a place anymore or someone.

We're looking for something.

A possible new friend... to join us. 🐾

🐾 It started as a signal...

Snowball discovered it then

🐾 It became something real...

someone small is waiting to be found 🐾🐾🐾

What am I?

🐾 CASE SOLVED

You followed the clues...

and you were right 🐾

🐾 It wasn't just a signal...

🐾 It wasn't just tracks...

...it was her. 🐾

Small... alone...

and trying to be heard...

We found her.

And now...

she's not alone anymore 🐾💙

Welcome home, little one.

Winners of last week's case are Brendan Michaels and Dawne Leaf woot. You all helped find her! Introducing Sally, Skunky's long lost sister!!!
